Eligibility Criteria for Applications

To be considered an eligible application, the following criteria must be met:

1. The source code of the application must be published on GitHub.
2. The application must integrate and use the DappyKit SDK library.
3. A demo of the application must be recorded and published on YouTube, with a maximum length of one minute. The URL to the video must be specified in the GitHub repository.
4. The application must be deployed to one of the following platforms: Farcaster Frames, Telegram, Apple App Store, or Google Play.
5. The link to the production application must be specified in the GitHub repository.

Rights Retention

Participants retain all rights to their work. However, all submissions must be published with a free use license.

Non-Transferability

Prizes are non-transferable and cannot be exchanged for cash or other tokens.

Taxation

Participants are solely responsible for any taxes associated with the receipt of prizes.

Final Decision

The decisions of the organizers regarding all aspects of the hackathon are final and binding.

Online Hackathon

The DappyKit Hackathon 2024 will be conducted entirely online.

Promotion of Submitted Work

By participating in the hackathon, participants grant the organizers the right to promote any submitted work through any medium or channel, without further compensation or notification.

Participation Rules

1. Developers are allowed to submit more than one application; however, only the best-performing application will be considered for the final evaluation.
2. Only one application per developer can win a prize.
3. Participants may participate in two categories but cannot invite their own accounts or create fake accounts.
4. Any mass or fake accounts created to influence the results will be disqualified, and those involved will be excluded from participating in the hackathon.
